Dear Parents/Guardian of P3 and P4 pupils,

Little Red Dot (LRD) – Supplementary English Resource Material

The English Language department is adopting the Little Red Dot (LRD), a SPH publication, as a resource material for use in our P3 and P4 curriculum.

Launched in July 2005, LRD is targeted at primary schools (Primary 1 to 6). It comes with the Tuesday edition of The Straits Times and is read by more than 50 000 students from about 90 subscribing schools.

LRD is focused on English language learning, news and current events, as well as character and citizenship education – all key learning areas in the classroom experience of 8- to 12-year-olds. Its accompanying lesson activities are aligned to MOE's initiatives and designed to be pedagogically sound. They are pegged to the learning of specific skills such as reading, comprehension, composition and grammar.

Through exposure to the LRD, we hope to further develop our pupils' critical thinking and analytical skills as well as nurture in them the habit of reading newspapers from young.

The cost of the LRD subscription is $9.00, which is payable through Edusave. (Please refer to the subscription schedule printed overleaf)

Details of the payment will be made known to you in the upcoming consolidated payment schedule for Semester 1.

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,
